Hi Marie,

We've reviewed the notes and previous ppt records for the subject. We understand from your previous note that he has declared himself a victim of identity theft and are surprised he is not more willing to provide sufficient information to prove he is not our subject.

However, from PPTC's perspective: this is a deportation case and the information held on file so far seems to indicate that the person in ICE custody is indeed our subject (based on last name, first name, DOB, and signature we can make a preliminary determination that he is same as). We notice the letter of facilitation from 2009 and the information provided for the letter contain much more information which further substantiates the same as determination (mother's maiden name, POB, photo) and we also noticed fingerprints were on file.

We suggest ICE takes a photo for verification purposes and if that proves inconclusive, perhaps the fingerprints on file can be sent to RCMP for further verification.

Best regards,
Megan
